Back to the 1960s by popular demand

The stage will be brought to life with the unforgettable hits of Dusty Springfield and Roy Orbison at the city's sunday@subi concert on Sunday 21 July.

Donna Greene captures the look and soulful voice that is 'distinctly Dusty'. Donna will wow the audience with some of Dusty's greatest hits, including You Don't Have to Say You Love Me, I Only Want to Be with You and Son of a Preacher Man.

Jay Weston is a sunday@subi favourite who performs both classical opera and 1960s rock 'n' roll. Jay will entertain with popular hits from the Big O, including Crying, Only the Lonely and Pretty Woman.

Jay Weston said he is looking forward to performing in Subiaco again.

"The sunday@subi audiences are always a pleasure to perform for and Donna and I are very excited to be returning," Jay said.

Tickets are available from 1.15pm on the day of the concert and are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis. All attendees must be present when the tickets are allocated. There will be a short break during the concert where attendees can enjoy a coffee or drink from the bar.

The sunday@subi free concert series covers a mix of themes and genres suitable for all ages. The concerts run every Sunday until 25 August at 2pm at the Subiaco Arts Centre, 180 Hamersley Road, Subiaco.
