

City celebrates Seniors Week

In honour of WA Seniors Week 2024, the City of Subiaco is hosting a range of free activities from Monday 11 to Friday 15 November.

This annual celebration invites people of all ages to celebrate the invaluable contributions of older individuals within our community.

This year, our events include a free Functional Fitness class and Active-Ageing Talk at Lords Recreation Centre and a delightful High Tea (sold out) at Rankin Gardens featuring live music.

Additionally, participants can join our Mindfulness Session, which offers a refreshing mix of breathwork, meditation and dynamic stretching. For a unique outdoor experience, the Cycling Without Age event at Kings Park invites seniors to explore nature via tri-shaw!

To cap off the week, we'll offer a free Move Fit Dance Class, a fun, low-impact dance-based fitness experience at the Shenton Park Community Centre.

Minute with the MAYOR

A quick monthly update from Mayor David McMullen

One of the best things about being on Council is seeing agenda items, budgets, decisions and expenditure translate to real-life outcomes.

Case in point: The recent opening of the renovated clubrooms at the Daglish Tennis Club. Congratulations to the Club for completing a successful project (supported by the City of Subiaco). A great turnout to the sunny, family-friendly launch event shows that the community are winners here; game, set and match.

No More Blank Walls Subi

Our 11-day mural festival No More Blank Walls may have come to an end but the resulting 10 large-scale mural paintings are on show for everyone to enjoy. Explore the walking trail next time you visit Subiaco. Download the map at seesubiacom.com.au.

Jolimont Primary School students put sustainability first

At a very special assembly, students at Jolimont Primary School came together to showcase their passion for sustainability. The event highlighted the programs currently in full swing at the WasteSorted-accredited school – from the 'waste-free lunch' initiative to the farm garden that turns food scraps into compost and worm food. Share your unique story

The City is reaching out to gather and celebrate the diverse cultures, stories and traditions that make up our vibrant community. We're after your unique journey, family stories or cultural recipes that highlight your heritage and background to compile into a book or digital series. To participate or learn more, please visit www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/subiacostories or contact culture@subiaco.wa.gov.au. Applications close Thursday 14 November 2024.

Textile Trail

On Saturday 16 November, the WMRC's Textile Trail will bring sustainable fashion to the western suburbs and through Subiaco. With workshops, clothing swaps and upcycling events at local boutiques and op shops, you'll learn to repair, reuse and re-love your wardrobe while supporting local businesses. Register to secure your spot at ticketing.humanitix.com/tours/textiletrail.

Rainbow Procession in the spotlight

The City's IDAHOBIT Rainbow Procession, a project to support mental health and connection among LGBTQIA+ youth, has won the Connecting Communities award at the LG Professionals WA Honour Awards. The project saw two local LGBTQIA+ support groups at local schools come together to plan an event for International Day Against Homophobia, Biphobia, Intersexism and Transphobia (IDAHOBIT). Road closures for Christmas lights installation

Christmas decorations will soon be installed in Subiaco, requiring partial closures along Rokeby Road between Bagot Road and Roberts Road from 9pm on Monday 18 November. Removal of decorations is scheduled for Monday 6 January 2025. Noise will be minimal and safety measures will be in place. For more information, visit www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/news.
