Vintage fashion finds in Subi next weekend

Pre Loved Market Perth is set to take over Seddon Street in Subiaco on Sunday 29 November, bringing together more than 100 sellers for one of Perth's most popular sustainable shopping experiences.

This free community event, presented by See Subiaco, takes place from 11am to 3pm and invites people to shop consciously, discover independent sellers, and pick up a few treasures.

Shoppers can browse everything from vintage designer pieces and Y2K favourites to wardrobe staples, statement accessories, and unique second-hand finds.

Mayor David McMullen said, "Subiaco loves markets and independent businesses. The Pre Loved Market is an event that combines both, bringing a great energy to the Seddon Street precinct which the City helped redevelop just a few years back for this very type of thing.

"Browse the market stalls, and while you're here explore and enjoy Subi."

Minute with the MAYOR

A quick monthly update from Mayor David McMullen

Taking to the stage at the Regal Theatre.

Back in Subiaco for the second year running, Spacecubed's Plus Eight Accelerator Demo Night showcases promising WA startups.

The City is working strategically to grow Subiaco as a hub for entrepreneurship and innovation, including through a dedicated Plus Eight Pre-Accelerator program in 2027.

As always, we never miss a chance to promote our City. Subi's having a moment; and it did not go unnoticed by this high-energy crowd.

New civic building and gardens project to return to Council

Following a detailed review of the concept design for the City's proposed new civic building and gardens project against community feedback, the project is set to return to Council at its Ordinary Council Meeting on Tuesday 24 November.

Council will be voting on whether to progress to detailed design. The agenda documents for the meeting can be viewed on the City's website.

Verge Valet™ bookings open next week

Pre-booked bulk hard waste collections via the Verge Valet™ system will commence from Tuesday 24 November.

The Verge Valet™ system allows residents to pre-book bulk hard waste collections at a time that suits them.

Each collection must be no more than 3 cubic metres (3x1x1), and items must be less than 1.5 metres in length. View a list of accepted and not accepted items via www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/news.

Art workshops for all abilities

The City is teaming up with Happy Hub Collective to deliver a series of All Abilities Art Sessions, a new free pilot program designed to support creativity, connection, and community participation for people with disability.

These relaxed, casual monthly sessions launch on Friday 4 December, in celebration of International Day of People with Disability. No previous art experience is required, and support workers, carers, and companions are welcome to attend.
