

Subiaco Museum digitises photograph collection

The Subiaco Museum has completed an ambitious project to digitise its photographic collection, making over 5000 images accessible online through CollectionsWA.

The project, which spanned nearly three years, involved the meticulous preservation and digitisation of photographs and albums – many of which are very fragile and needed extensive conservation.

The digitisation of the photos not only ensures these images are safeguarded for future generations but also enhances public access, allowing anyone to explore Subiaco's rich history from the comfort of their own home.

City of Subiaco Mayor David McMullen said the project was a significant undertaking.

"The team didn't just scan the images; they also reorganised them, rehoused them in safer storage, and ensured each photograph is accurately tracked," he said.

"Our staff and dedicated volunteers worked tirelessly on this project alongside other museum initiatives, such as community events, school excursions and educational exhibitions."

The online format also opens the door for greater community engagement, encouraging the public to contribute information about the images.

Minute with the MAYOR

A quick monthly update from Mayor David McMullen

The City of Subiaco has committed to an ongoing partnership with the Western Suburbs Business Association (WSBA), as sole Principal Local Government Sponsor. Jamie Duff, President of the WSBA, and I took the opportunity to chat (at the Subi Hotel) about what's next.

Contracts (i.e., sponsorship agreements) are of course important – I am a lawyer after all – but it's conversations like these which inject the "one percenters" into a relationship. The WSBA Committee is at full steam. Obviously so too is our Council. Together this means good things for community.

Have your say: Mueller Park redevelopment

Play is an integral part of childhood and the City of Subiaco values facilitating diverse and quality play experiences through our approach to playground provision and maintenance.

The Mueller Park playground is due to be redeveloped soon and the replacement of the play equipment will be guided by community input.

Let us know what you'd like to see in this playground, whether that's a more inclusive play space, more shaded seating, eco-friendly materials, or safety and accessibility enhancements.

The first stage of consultation will open Friday 11 October until Monday 11 November 2024.

For more information or to have your say, visit www.haveyoursay.subiaco.wa.gov.au.

Birthday celebrations at the market

Subi Farmers Market is turning 15-years-old on Saturday 19 October. To celebrate, there will be free cake at 10am and a new mural unveiled outside Subi Primary School, painted by local artist Olive Cheng, and supported by the City of Subiaco.

Olive has a stall at the markets each weekend and had the help of local school students in designing the bright new mural.
