

Celebrate NAIDOC Week across the City

This year, NAIDOC Week will take place from Sunday 5 to Sunday 12 July, with the theme '50 Years of Deadly'.

NAIDOC Week is a time to recognise the history, culture, and achievements of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and to celebrate, the City of Subiaco is hosting a range of free events for the entire community to enjoy throughout the week.

On Wednesday 8 July from 9am to 10am, Yirra Yaakin Theatre Company will present a Welcome to Country and Smoking Ceremony, including a traditional dance, at Lake Jualbup. The event will include a morning tea and be followed by a Cultural Walk of Lake Jualbup, also presented by Yirra Yaakin, which will run from 10.30am to 11.30am.

During the walk, Noongar woman Denice Kickett will share stories that have been passed down to her, and teach attendees the Noongar names of flora, fauna, and local places. The walk will be followed by another native-inspired morning tea.

Tree planting underway

The City's annual tree planting program is underway, with more than 400 new trees set to be planted across Subiaco this winter.

New trees will be planted on verges, in parks, and throughout streetscapes across the City, contributing to cooler, greener, and more resilient public spaces.

A diverse range of tree species has been carefully selected to ensure the long-term health and resilience of the City's urban forest.

25 years of walks

The 'See Subi on Sunday' volunteer-led walking tours through our suburb are turning 25 this July.

Mark Sunday 12 July from 1.30pm to 3pm in your calendar if you're keen to attend a special 25th anniversary walk of Rankin Gardens. Tour guide Marion will lead you through the space and host a celebratory afternoon tea.

Spending up in Subiaco

Spending in Subiaco is showing growth, with a 19 per cent increase from 2021 to 2025, identified within the City's newest publication, its Investment Prospectus.

The publication provides an overview of Subiaco's current economic state, including support of more than 25,000 local jobs and more than 5000 businesses.

Mayor David McMullen said, "We are committed to creating an environment that not only attracts investment but also nurtures long-term success. Subiaco is more than just a destination – it is a place where your business potential and growth can be realised."

New historical mural now complete

Subiaco's newest mural is here! Artist Jacob Butler (professionally known as Shakey) has finished his latest work, a photorealistic mural inspired by an image from a celebration when Subiaco was officially declared a City in 1952.

Plenty of visitors, residents, and business owners have stopped by to see the mural take shape over the past few weeks. Jacob said, "The reaction has been amazing. That's probably been the most rewarding part – seeing people emotionally reconnect with the history of the area through the artwork."

See the mural for yourself at 325 Barker Road, or visit the City's Facebook page to view photos.

Finalisation of Local Planning Policy

At the City of Subiaco Ordinary Council Meeting held on 26 May 2026, Council proceeded with amended Local Planning Policy 7.1 – Design Review Panel Terms of Reference (LPP 7.1).

LPP 7.1 has been amended to provide clearer guidance, to be more contemporary, and to ensure it aligns with the State Government Design Review Manual. Read the policy at the local planning controls and policies section of the City's website at www.subiaco.wa.gov.au.

Upcoming bulk hard waste collection

The City's next bulk hard waste collection will begin on Monday 27 July, providing residents an opportunity to dispose of large household items that cannot be reused or repaired.

Items must be placed on the verge by 7am on collection day. For more information, visit www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/waste.
