

Rosalie Park upgrade now open

The City officially opened two projects recently at Rosalie Park – a mix-use sporting area and new floodlighting. The new sporting area means the community can now play basketball, cricket, tennis, netball and ping pong at Rosalie, as well as plant and pick fresh produce from the community garden beds. It was designed with extensive community consultation and has been well received already, especially by the local school students who have been using it before and after school. The new floodlights now meet Australian Standards, add to the amenity of the park and give the clubs more training options, optimising the use of the park and increasing safety for all. Visit www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/news for all the details.

Shaun Tan Award now open

The City is seeking budding artists to take part in its annual Shaun Tan Award for Young Artists, marking twenty years of this prestigious award for young creatives. "The City is so proud to be celebrating 20 years of this award; we're pleased to host and support such a wonderful initiative that helps foster creativity and imagination in the next generation," Mayor David McMullen said.

"I highly encourage students from Subiaco and all over the state to enter; I'm looking forward to seeing what you have in store for us this year!"

Students in years one to twelve are invited to submit an original, two-dimensional visual art creation. There are prizes up for grabs and finalists' work will be showcased in a special exhibition later this year.

Council rejects proposed changes to planning system

Council recently voted against the State Government's proposed changes to WA's Development Assessment Panel (DAP) system.

DAPs are decision making bodies comprised of three professional panel members and two local elected members who are responsible for determining significant development applications.

The proposed changes include reducing the number of DAPs from five to three and creating a special matters DAP to consider matters of state and regional importance or certain types of applications in precincts of state or regional importance.

Council voted to not support the proposal as it had a number of concerns, particularly in regard to the creation of a special matters DAP.

It is considered that local governments are best placed to assess significant development proposals against the local planning framework which was developed with the local community.
