

Plastic Free July

Plastic Free July has just begun and there are a number of local businesses that can help you reduce your waste. Look out for the many cafes and shops offering a discount for bringing a reusable coffee cup, or offering more sustainable alternatives to single use plastic containers and shopping bags. The local Saturday Subi Farmers Market also has plenty of plastic free options whether you're after a unique gift, fresh produce or personal products; just be sure to bring your own tote!

City endorses heritage area additions

Council have endorsed modifications to the Kings Road and Chesters' Subdivision Heritage Areas, and the associated local planning policies.

After consultation with residents, 14 properties in Hamersley Road, Kings Road and Francis Street will be added to the Kings Road Heritage Area, and 14 properties in Hamersley Road and Heytesbury Road will be added to the Chesters' Subdivision Heritage Area.

Designating a heritage area introduces checks and balances to assist in conserving and enhancing the streetscapes' key heritage features and notable character, with little to no impact on changes homeowners may wish to make to parts of their property behind the street interface.

The City's Heritage Advisory Service is one of a range of assistance measures the City offers, whereby owners of heritage places can obtain complimentary advice from a local architect.

Carpark off Hay Street ready for use

A 47-bay carpark off Hay Street is open, close-by and ready for use, increasing the all-day public parking available in the area.

The carpark at 563 Hay Street in Daglish is only a short walk away from King Edward Memorial Hospital and Lords Recreation Centre.

All-day parking 8am to 5pm, Monday to Friday is a $10 per day maximum (or $1.50 per hour) and parking is free every evening after 5pm and all weekend long.

West Subiaco LHS update

Council has endorsed the reviewed West Subiaco Precinct Local Heritage Survey (LHS). The LHS identifies places that form part of the cultural and historical record of the area. It is not an instrument for development control, but may inform future decisions about heritage preservation and protection.

NAIDOC Week in the City

NAIDOC Week is coming up and the City is holding a range of activities to mark the occasion.

Subiaco Library will be hosting events all week, beginning with a free dance performance by Yirra Yaakin on Monday 4 July.

There will be a smoking ceremony and flag raising on Wednesday 6 July, followed by a native Australian food inspired morning tea at the Administration Centre.

The library will hold a special NAIDOC storytime session for pre-schoolers on Friday 8 July, with special guest Freda Ogilvie reading traditional stories in Noongar language.

Food Organics, Garden Organics (FOGO) gets the go ahead

At its meeting this week, Council endorsed the implementation of the Food Organics, Garden Organics (FOGO) waste service.

The FOGO service offers a new FOGO bin, in which people can recycle their food scraps and garden waste together.

Once collected, waste from FOGO bins is made into high-quality compost that can be used in parks, gardens and other natural locations, reducing greenhouse gas emissions that would result from organic waste going directly to landfill.

Council also endorsed the provision of a twice-yearly bulk green waste collection service for larger prunings and garden clippings.

The City will now commence a procurement process with the aim of commencing the rollout of FOGO in winter 2023.
