

Scribblers Festival to take over Subiaco Arts Centre this month

As part of Book Week, children's authors and illustrators captivated students from Subiaco Primary School at Subiaco Library last week. Local and national award-winning authors engaged the children inspiring creativity and bringing their favourite stories to life.

If your child missed out, don't worry – the Scribblers Family Weekend will bring together some of Australia's best writers and illustrators for a weekend filled with author talks, creative workshops, and book-reading sessions. The two-day program takes place in and around Subiaco Arts Centre on 17 and 18 September.

Heritage grants close soon

Heritage grants are now open to assist owners of properties included on the Heritage List or contributory buildings located within a heritage area to preserve their building's heritage values.

The grants provide financial assistance for works in the public view that conserve and/or enhance the heritage significance of a building, and for works required to stabilise a building.

This grant is now open and closes 5pm Thursday 22 September. To find out more or apply for a grant, visit www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/heritagegrants.

Community development grants

Community development grants support community activities that provide programs and services to the City of Subiaco. Innovative cultural and community activities that benefit the community are awarded funding twice a year through this program.

Individuals, community-based organisation and local groups are encouraged to apply.

This grant round is now open and closes 5pm Friday 30 September. For more information about the City's available grants, call 9237 9222 or email culture@subiaco.wa.gov.au.

Rates notices and waste passes are out now

Residents will have received their rates notices and waste passes by now. The City has developed online guides to help you pay your rates and explain how to use your waste passes. Visit the City's website for more information www.subiaco.wa.gov.au.

Rokeby Road Planter Boxes

The planter boxes in the Rokeby Road median strip have been wrapped in historic photographs of the City of Subiaco. This is part of a four-month trial to upgrade the streetscape by reskinning the existing planter boxes.

At the August Council Meeting, Council decided to extend the trial to reskin additional planter boxes along Rokeby Road. This is a temporary solution to upgrade the visual aesthetic of the town, additional treatment to the median strip is still being discussed, and your input is welcome.

The City is seeking your feedback on the treatment of all of the newly skinned planter boxes through an online survey. The survey closes 5pm Monday 21 November.

Polyphagous shot-hole borer beetle

The Department of Primary Industries and Regional Development (DPIRD) is responding to the confirmed detection of an exotic beetle, the Polyphagous Shot-Hole Borer (PSHB) in the Perth metropolitan area. The establishment of this pest in WA may have a significant impact on urban trees, native trees and certain industries.

The City of Subiaco has not identified or been informed by DPIRD of any positive sighting of the shot-hole borer within the City, however, DPIRD are monitoring the area and you may see staff carrying out inspections in parks and on your verge. You may also see signs posted around parks and trees that have been inspected. The latest information can be found at www.agric.wa.gov.au/borer.
