Art showdown Dual competitions come to Subi

Artists of all ages are invited to enter the City's two visual art competitions: The 2024 Shaun Tan Award for Young Artists, and the 2024 Photographic Awards.

For young visual artists, the Shaun Tan Award gives WA school students in years one to twelve the chance to showcase an original two-dimensional visual art creation. The best works will be professionally framed and featured in a month-long public exhibition at Subiaco Library. The winners will also receive a variety of prizes and vouchers from local sponsors.

Photography enthusiasts are encouraged to snap to it and enter the 2024 Photographic Awards, where a $5000 prize pool is up for grabs. This captivating competition has categories suitable for all skill levels, equipment and ages – including a Mobile Phone category and a new AI category.

Enter the 2024 Shaun Tan Award for Young Artists by Monday 20 May.

Enter the 2024 Photographic Awards by Sunday 23 June.

Minute with the Mayor

A quick monthly update from Mayor David McMullen

National Volunteer Week is just around the corner. Last weekend I was invited to join a special "thank you" event by the Subiaco and Shenton Park Playgroups, for their Committee members.

After a group painting class (see my coastal landscape, pictured), a few of the members showed me through what I'd describe as their hive of community activity. We also talked about some of the challenges faced by volunteer-run associations such as theirs.

The Playgroups are tenants and past grant recipients of the City of Subiaco.

Public art revamps City pathways

Several pathways in Shenton Park are getting a vibrant makeover in the interest of pedestrian safety. As part of a creative pilot program, the City has commissioned local artists Tricia Stedman and Dianne Kelly to create eye-catching artworks that help people avoid low-hanging tree branches. One of the artworks, already completed, can be admired outside 269 Nicholson Road while the other two will soon brighten up 86 Murchison Street and 16 Waverley Street. Library reopening

After extensive renovations to bring the building back to its former glory, the Subiaco Library will reopen at 9.30am this Monday 13 May. Full library services will be available at this time, including free WiFi, public computers, scanning and printing facilities and study areas. Regular programs will also resume, including Games Club, English Conversation Club, Justice of the Peace service, Digication sessions, Yarn Club, Scrabble Club, Baby Rhymetime, Storytime and more. Visit www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/library.

Forrest Walk upgrade begins

Renovations will begin at Forrest Walk from Monday 20 May to create a cleaner, greener space that builds on the existing charm of the area. Pedestrian access will continue to be available during this time and all businesses in this area will remain open. Works will include new seating and lighting, alfresco dining areas, greenery and more. Construction is expected to take about 16 weeks. Visit www.subiaco.wa.gov.au/major-projects.

Draft Daglish Precinct Local Heritage Survey

The City is inviting public comment on the draft reviewed Daglish Precinct Local Heritage Survey (LHS). If you wish to have your property included in the LHS, the City is also accepting nominations from property owners during this period. Comments must be received by 5pm on Monday 10 June 2024. Find out more by visiting www.haveyoursay.subiaco.wa.gov.au.

Have your say – Subiaco Activity Centre

Tell us what you want the future of the Subiaco Activity Centre to look like. Your valuable feedback will be used to make meaningful changes to our Subiaco Activity Centre Plan and the draft North Subiaco Structure Plan, which will help guide development in the coming years. Find out more about the project and take the survey at www.haveyoursay.subiaco.wa.gov.au/sacp or scan the QR code below. The survey closes on Friday 7 June at 5pm.
